SOCIETY entertainments "for the benefit of charity" envelope and vary from season to season, and it is well that they do, for the box office receipts as well as for the clients which patronizes the affair.

Society never turns a deaf ear to any worthy cause, but for all its big heart and its amiability, it likes to be really entertained when it does its best dress and goes to sit through an evening for "the benefit of."

There has been such a diversity of entertainments offered this season that no one can resist the appeals, not only does this season much in praise of the entertainments, but much more for the generous sponsors, who are ever ready to assist in a beneficent cause.

The next large charity affair will be the production of "The Fortune Hunter," to be given under the auspices of the social civic center of the Commercial club, for the benefit of the destitute families.

"The Fortune Hunter" was written by Winchell Smith, author of the "Boomerang," now being played at the Belasco theatre in New York which is one of the biggest dramatic hits of the year.

The cast for the "Fortune Hunter" has been chosen from local amateurs, and is under the proficient direction of James Mott, who also staged "Arizona" last season.

Mr. Smith, the author of "The Fortune Hunter" is so intensely interested in the charity work of the social center, that he has given them permission to produce the drama free of royalty. This is the first authorized amateur production in America of "The Fortune Hunter," which has the highest royalty of any American play.

"The Fortune Hunter" is a comedy in four acts and was presented for two successive seasons by John and Harris at the Gaiety theatre in New York, with Jack Baymore in the title role, which will be played by Mr. Mott.

The local cast will be composed of the following amateurs: Miss Margaret Marvin, Miss Rita Steiner, Miss Hazel Erickson, Miss Ida Simmons, Miss Aline Thompson, James Mott, Carl Gabrielson, Ralph Moore, Laurence Hofer, Max Buren, Walter Deaton, Rev. Robert Gill, E. Coole Patton, Perry Reigleman, Rev. Richard Fischer, Dr. W. S. Mott, Charles Reynolds, Mr. Howard and Herman Meiring.

One of the most delightful affairs of the week was the dinner and "500" party presided over by Dr. and Mrs. Carlton Smith, on Wednesday evening.

The table was effectively centered with graceful carnations and greens, with covers for the "Semo Club" and several additional guests.

Following dinner the guests enjoyed an evening of cards. High score honors were awarded to Mrs. L. P. Griffith and Milton Meyers.

Dr. and Mrs. Smith's guests were: Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Lee Steiner, Mr. and Mrs. George Rodgers, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Griffith, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McNary, Mr. and Mrs. George Brown, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Meyers, Dr. and Mrs. Harry Olinger, Mr. and Mrs. William Dancy, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. George Rose, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Durbin, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Laeche and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Baumgartner.

Mrs. William Lytle has returned from Pendleton, where she was the motif of numerous charming affairs.

One of the most delightful being the luncheon presided over by Mrs. Wilson McNary.

The handsomely appointed table was arranged for sixteen.

The week just ended has been rather quiet, as snow sports, coasting parties, and gatherings of a very informal nature have submerged society almost entirely.

Both the younger set and the married folks have tarried the Lincoln street hills, in congenial little groups, for gay coasting parties, after which many of the coxsters motored to the various homes for a hot supper or an impromptu lunch.

One of the jolliest little affairs of this sort was Thursday evening, when a cottee of the younger contingent, and the married set gathered for a coast, followed by a taffy pull at the William Burghardt's, Jr.

Those making up the party were: Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Thielsen, Mr. and Mrs. George Palmer Putnam, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Plimpton, Miss Ellen Thielsen, Miss Margaret Marvin, Miss Ida Simmons, Daniel J. Fry, Jr., Laurence Hofer, Roy Barth, and Mr. Fern, of Portland.

Charming in detail and appointment was the bridge luncheon presided over by Mrs. William Dancy Thursday.

A bowl of graceful scarlet tulips centered the luncheon table, around which were covers for Mrs. R. E. Lee Steiner, Mrs. Homer Goode, Mrs. Al Jones, Mrs. George Brown, Mrs. Edwin Baker, Mrs. Carlton Smith, Mrs. Charles McNary, Mrs. Ruben Boise, Mrs. L. F. Griffith, Mrs. Oliver Laeche, Mrs. Joseph Baumgartner, Mrs. Frank Durbin, Mrs. Harry Olinger, Mrs. George Rose, Mrs. George Rodgers, Mrs. Milton Meyers, and the hostess.

Following luncheon, tables were arranged for an afternoon of bridge. Mrs. George Brown, captured the high score favor.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Hofer were hosts Friday evening for a handsomely appointed dinner and bridge.

An unusually artistic decorative scheme was developed with an ivory art basket filled with lovely red tulips and greens.

For dinner the guests included: Mrs. Chauncey Bishop, Mrs. John J. Roberts, Mrs. Harry Clay, Mrs. Asahel Bush, Mrs. Frederic Thielsen, Mrs. George Gray, Mrs. Melvin Plimpton, Mrs. William Burghardt, Jr., Mrs. Curtis Cross, Mrs. Frank Spears, Mrs. Connell Dyer, Mrs. David Kye, Mrs. Clifford Brown, Miss Marie Hofer and Miss Aline Thompson.

The husbands and a number of men and girls were asked for cards later, including Dr. and Mrs. T. C. Smith, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Graham, Miss Ellen Thielsen, Miss Rita Steiner, Miss Esther Carson, Miss Veda Cross, Miss Margery Marvin, Miss Catherine Flors, Miss Barbara Steiner, Miss Florence Hofer, Carl Gabrielson, James Young, Laurence Hofer, Fritz Slade, Paul Wallace, John Roberts, Chauncey Bishop, Frederic Thielsen, Asahel Bush, Melvin Plimpton, Curtis Cross, Frank Spears, David Eyre, Clifford Brown, Allan Bynon, Dr. Harry Clay, William Burghardt, Jr., Frank Spears, George Gray and Connell Dyer.

High score honors were captured by Mrs. Chauncey Bishop, Miss Rita Steiner, Joan Roberts and James Young.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Thielsen were awarded low score favors.

Miss Bernice Craig has as her week end guest, Miss Caroline Cannon, of Portland.

Mrs. Joseph Reinhardt was hostess Friday afternoon for the "La Coedier Club."

The table was aglow with fragrant red carnations and greenery.

Miss Armin Steiner was the only additional guest.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Fleming will entertain the members of the First Congregational church at an attractive reception at their home on Court street next Friday evening.

Among the handsome affairs of the week was the musicale given by Mrs. William Brown and Mrs. William Eldridge, on Thursday afternoon at the Werner Breyman residence.

The programme was made unusually attractive by the appearance of Miss Ursula Dietrich, the famous artpopolo player.

Mrs. Carlton Smith and Miss Mary Schulte also added to the delightful memory of the afternoon.

The guests included the members of the Thursday afternoon club and several additional matrons, who are great lovers of music.

The hostesses were assisted by Mrs. Joan D. Sutherland and Mrs. R. S. Wallace.

A heavy of Albany belles and beaux also the week end guests in Salem, and will be the motif for a gay little dancing party tonight for which the "Octo Club" will be the hosts.

The club is composed of the following men: Lewis Griffith, Allan Jones, Oris Fry, Frederic Deekbaeh, Frank Durbin, George Croisan, Franklin Miller and Claude Stensloff.

Last night Miss Ella Spaulding entertained the Albany contingent and the Octo men, also a group of Salem girls with a line party at the high school play, "The Revenge of Shari Hotsu," which was given by the "Snikpoh" Dramatic club.

Later the guests enjoyed a lunch at the Gray-Belle, and dancing at Miss Spaulding's.

The Albany girls visiting in Salem were: Miss Caritha Hart, who is a guest of Miss Caroline Dick; Miss Janette Dawson, is with Miss Marjorie Kay; Miss Inez Lenke, is at the Spaulding residence, and Miss Hazel Hochensmith, is the guest of Miss Retha Hughes.

Mrs. Ben O. Schuecking entertained a group of matrons at a delightful informal sewing and ten, Wednesday afternoon, her guests being the members of the Kensington club.

One of the biggest and gayest affairs of the week was the dance, given by the Monday night club, at the Moose hall.

By way of varying the evening, a number of tag and grab bag dances were interspersed, making the dance quite the jolliest of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Millard were hosts Saturday evening for a prettily appointed dinner, the occasion being in celebration of their fifteenth wedding anniversary.

The table was effectively arranged with vivid red poinsettias and crystal candle sticks, holding softly shaded red candles.

Covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. Fred Legg, Dr. and Mrs. B. L. Steeves, Mr. and Mrs. U. G. Holt, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Vondervert, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Baker and the hostess.

During dinner the guests presented Mr. and Mrs. Millard with a handsome cut glass bowl and table mirror.

Miss Caroline Dick asked a number of girls for a delightfully informal tea this afternoon.

Her guests included about twenty of the younger set and a group of Albany maids.

Miss Ella Spaulding presided over the tea table.

A pretty one o'clock luncheon Thursday was that given by Mrs. Charles F. Elgin, honoring her sister, Miss Jennie Freerksen, of Oakland, California, who has been her guest for the past week.

Covers were placed for six.

Dr. and Mrs. John Evans were the charming hosts for a five hundred party at their home, Tuesday evening.

Guests were asked for four tables of the game.

Mrs. Bellinger and E. O. Seicke were awarded high score honors.

Mrs. Evans was assisted by Mrs. Charles Bates.

In every city of the United States, where music has taken its proper place, a De Gogorza recital has become a distinct institution. It is an event eagerly looked forward to, the general public and the deepest students of music alike, getting education and entertainment of the highest value in one of the finest arts. Every true artist, whether he or she be singer, instrumentalist or painter, has a message, which, given under proper conditions, is bound to be uplifting and ennobling. When the number of individuals proclaiming themselves artists, is considered, it is not a source of wonder that the general public can call to mind the names of very, very few who have attained that highest place in the artistic world to which real genius entitles them. It is only in the recital field that the great artists can show their versatility, thereby making their appeal to the greatest number of persons and to each of whom there exists a personal note. It is the accomplishment of this, that has made Emilio De Gogorza's position in the world of music unique. A well known critic has struck into the proper chord when he said of Mr. De Gogorza's singing: "His is a voice of such golden beauty, such splendid cadence, such superb quality, as one hears seldom twice in a lifetime. It is thrilling, vibrant without any undue throes, fine to a degree, rich with a rare richness, and under the most perfect conceivable control. It holds tears and laughter, joy and sadness, youth and age, melancholy and delight; it ranges over the whole gamut of human emotions; it plays upon ones senses like the strings of a golden harp."

The members of the Festival chorus are being rehearsed by Professor Mendenhall for a concert entitled the "Crusaders" by Niels Gade to be given on the latter part of February. This cantata is intensely dramatic and full of beauty, that is especially appealing to all lovers of the best and most effective music. Many of the famous vocal societies have used it, and it is considered one of the best works in their repertoire.

A simple wedding Saturday morning was that of Miss Esther E. Ferrell and Earl W. Strickland, which took place at the Presbyterian parsonage at eight o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Strickland left for a brief honeymoon trip to Portland.

Margaret Mason Writes of Gotham Fads and Fashions

By Margaret Mason. (Written for the United Press.)

If you're a superstitious Sue. The Fashion won't appeal to you. Of wearing without quail or quail The feathers from a peacock's tail.

New York, Jan. 15.—If lovely woman will wear borrowed plumage, quite the most artistic and fashionable place to borrow it at the present moment is from the tail of a peacock. That is, of course, if she counts thirteen as her lucky number, doesn't mind opening an umbrella indoors and laughs shattered mirrors to scorn. It isn't strange that the peacock should come into its own again as a modish fowl, considering it has ever been a symbol of vanity and the household pet of June in her early days of light house keeping on Mount Olympus. Now the gorgeous feathers are used not only as fans, in head dresses for evening and at a garniture for hats, but the lovely blue and green eyes of the feathers are utilized in any number of ingenious ways as gown and wrap trimmings. At a smart literary tea the other afternoon appeared a veritable Peacock Lady whose pendant for the plumes was carried to unique lengths. The buttons of her heavy, loose wrap were made of the eyes of the peacock feathers under dices of glass backed and bound in gilt. She also wore a charm on a long chain of blue and green enamel made of double glass discs rimmed in gold and revealing a peacock eye on each side. Her hat was a close fitting turban formed of the iridescent bluish green breast feathers of the bird, while a wonderful scarf of the breast feathers swathed her chin and throat in lieu of fur. Replicas of these fascinating feathers now form the motif of embroidered designs on many rich evening peacock jewelry steadily gains. Rings, gowns and wraps and the cuffs for and brooches showing the fowl in its entirety, have its tail encircled with semi-precious sparkling stones of green and blue. Either with its tail drooping or reared and proudly unfurled like a fan in all its glory, the clever metal and gem craftsmen depict the peacock on combs for the hair, shoe buckles, pendants. The tiny gold or silver, gem encrusted birds often swing in Beauty's cars. They are spangled or beaded on hand bags and hosiery in effective exterior decoration of the frail and fair; also the buxom and brunette. For interior decoration, Stener the artist has proved their effectiveness in his own beautiful home.

So here you have the tale of the peacock's fashionable tail and all its entails.

THE INDIAN STRING QUARTET

The Indian String Quartet, in their concert at the First Christian church, Tuesday, January 18, will give a class of music seldom heard outside of the largest cities. Because such an organization requires long and constant practice together a string quartet is quite uncommon, and few people know how beautiful is the music written for these instruments by the great masters. The Indian themes, composed by Mr. Turney, leader of the quartet, are striking features of the program. They preserve the characteristic wildness of Indian music in a beautiful harmony and always delight by their weird charm.

The Lebanon Criticon said: "It was one of the class of entertainments that wins its way with all thinking people. The entire entertainment was instructive as well as entertaining, and there was genuine appreciation of the talent of all who took part in it by everyone present."

MILLIONAIRE IN JAIL

Redwood City, Cal., Jan. 15.—When John D. Spreckels, Jr., son of the multimillionaire, opened his eyes today and stretched, his gaze fell on barren prison walls instead of his own luxurious quarters.

Spreckels went into court yesterday with a pocket full of money, expecting to pay a fine if found guilty of not driving his automobile headlights. But Justice of the Peace George Seely concluded that two days in the lockup was far more punishment than a fine for a rich man.
